25th-29th April 2016

- Galați is a city and a municipality in Romania. The town of Galați is the capital of Galați County. It rises on the left bank of the Danube, at the intersection of important routes connecting the North and South of Europe, the East and the West.
- Galați lies in the historical region of Moldavia, near to Brăila.
- Galați is the largest port and the largest sea port on the Danube River. It is the second largest port in Romania.
- In 2015, census data recorded 231,204 inhabitants in the city of Galați. At that time it was the seventh most populous city in Romania.
- Galați is an industrial city based around Shipyard, the Arcelor-Mittal steel plant and the P

- Galați is also a border checkpoint to Moldova.
- The cultural and social life of the local community, including Romanians, Russians, Germans, Greeks and Italians, develops along the Danube.
- Just out of curiosity: in the past Galati was known as the city of lindens, thanks to the many linden trees along its streets; indeed, if you pay careful attention (and you are not allergic), in spring the perfume of those trees is still distinguishable.

Galati History is related to an important figure in the Romanian history, the great ruler Alexandru Ioan Cuza, whose reign over both Moldavia and the Romanian County led to the unifications of these two lands and to the creation of the later country Romania.

From this moment on the city went through different periods of evolution and then decade, but the most atrocious period was represented by World War II when the entire historic center of the town was destroyed.

Living in Campus

The accommodation, canteen and leisure facilities of the „Dunărea de Jos” University consist of 13 hostels, restaurant/canteen, a chapel, 2 gyms and an infirmary, spread across four university campuses: “Al. I. Cuza”, “22 Decembrie”, “Politehnica” and “Radu Negru”. Accommodation facilities are offered to more than 3000 students.

The “Al. I. Cuza” campus is one of the most stylish in Romania, due to the perfect combination between its architectural design and its small park.

The “Al. I. Cuza” hostel rooms are equipped with 2, 3 or 4 wooden beds, ecologic pillows and mattresses, wooden cupboards, metal framed tables, chairs and shelves, thermo pane windows, laminated wooden flooring, metal doors. The hostels have newly renovated bathrooms, reading rooms, gyms, laundry rooms (with washing machines and driers), internet and television – all free of charge.

The newest and the most modern accommodation facility is situated in the “Politehnica” campus and can host up to 144 students in rooms which are equipped with wooden beds, ecologic pillows and mattresses, metal framed chairs, double wooden cupboards, desks, TV sets and refrigerators. All rooms have en-suite facilities, free wireless internet and cable TV. The hostel also has four laundries (with washing machines and driers), four kitchens with modern appliances and three reading rooms.
